

Additional Information

I'm not a career politician, but a committed local who has taken the time to understand how council works and wants to contribute constructively, encourage community involvement and support fair, responsible long-term outcomes for our community.

I've lived and worked across several states and held administrative roles in public service and corporate before building a successful local wellness business. These roles required discretion, sound judgement, accountability and clear communication, all skills I continue to apply in my professional and community life. Like many residents and business owners, I manage budgets, meet regulatory requirements, listen carefully to feedback and make considered decisions with limited resources. This real-world experience has shaped my practical, grounded and common-sense approach to public responsibility.

I regularly attend council meetings, ask questions on spending and issues affecting residents, raise community concerns and support petitions. I served on the Community Reference Group where community and elected members consider major planning and policy matters. Through this continued involvement, I understand council responsibilities and the decision making processes and where community input can be most effective.

My family has lived in Iluka for 22 years, I'm a volunteer committee member of our Homeowners Association contributing to neighbourhood initiatives and advocating for outcomes that reflect local priorities.

I value respectful communication and transparency in local government, keeping rates affordable, accountability and prudent spending, thoughtful planning that respects neighbourhood character and responsible environmental management of our streets, parks, sporting grounds, community facilities, natural areas and coastline.

I'm stepping up because I care about our community and believe the role of councillor can and should be done with integrity, diligence and respect for the trust placed in it.
