Did You Know?

The City recently hosted internationally-renowned Artist and Researcher Dr Helen Pynor through its Artist-in-Residence program. Dr Pynor will produce an artwork for the City based on her time spent in Joondalup.

City's BEN Signage to Improve Emergency Response Times

The City will install 65 Beach Emergency Number (BEN) signs at beach access points along its coastline this summer to improve beach emergency response times.

All BEN signage is uniquely coded and the location of each sign is registered with emergency services. Each sign includes clear location data so that during an incident a caller can simply quote the beach sign number to an emergency operator for urgent assistance.

The City of Joondalup received grant funding from the Department of Primary Industries and Regional Development to install the signs.

Locations will include some of the City's most popular coastal foreshore locations such as Burns Beach, Iluka, Ocean Reef, Mullaloo, Kallaroo, Hillarys, Sorrento and Marmion.

Welcome to the latest edition of City News.

Kaleidoscope Festival has come and gone, but the fun has only just begun for local residents.

Over four nights Joondalup was again Perth's entertainment capital with Kaleidoscope 2018 bringing 117,000 people to the city centre. This included 74,000 people on the final two nights alone. About 95% of those who attended this year's event said they'd recommend the event to friends and family.

Our Friday night Twilight Markets season has commenced and the first Music in the Park concert for the season will be staged in January at Falkland Park, Kinross. Tickets for the 2019 Valentine's Concert are selling fast and planning for the region's biggest free cultural event – the Joondalup Festival – is also well underway.

As the weather heats up, our world-class beaches will again prove a popular destination for locals and visitors alike.

Beach safety is of course a priority. As well as having two of the biggest surf lifesaving clubs in Perth to look after the needs of beach-goers, the City is in the process of installing 65 Beach Emergency Number (BEN) signs at various access points within the City. The signage is uniquely coded to improve emergency response times in instances of shark sightings, bites or other beach emergencies.

At Sorrento Beach, the beach enclosure is again fully operational after it was damaged in winter storms. This enclosure has proven popular since it was installed in 2016, particularly with young families.

Elsewhere on the coast, the opportunity to view the latest plans for the Ocean Reef Marina at the community open day attracted more than 2,000 people to Ocean Reef Sea Sports Club. The strong turnout again emphasised just how important this project is to our community.

Our outdoor lifestyle and beautiful natural areas are undoubtedly key reasons why residents are highly satisfied with our City as a place to live and raise a family.

The findings of the 2017/18 Customer Satisfaction Monitor show an overall satisfaction rating for the City of Joondalup of 84.7% – up from 83.8% in 2016/17. Almost 83% of respondents said the City understands the community's needs – an increase of 6.8%. Rest assured the City is dedicated to improving and enhancing how it delivers services and meets the needs of the community.

Having more people living and working in Joondalup will only enhance the vitality and vibrancy of the Joondalup City Centre and on behalf of the City I'd like to offer a warm welcome to the 700 public servants from the Department of Water and Environmental Regulation and the office of the Environmental Protection Authority who will call Joondalup their working home from February next year.

Christmas is a time for family and friends. It is also a time when we should think about others and allow ourselves to show compassion for those in the community who may not be as fortunate as many others. Some of our residents will again be volunteering at the 2018 Joondalup Christmas Lunch, which the City proudly sponsors. This great event caters for members of the local community who may otherwise have spent the day alone. I'm proud to say we are a City that looks after its own.

I'd like to thank the community for their support and the active interest they have shown in their City over the past 12 months.

Our hard-working Elected Members will be on a short break before returning to represent the interests of their community in early 2019. I wish all residents a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Hon. Albert Jacob JP

FAQ

Why is the City charging admission to the 2019 Valentine's Concert?

There are significant costs associated with large-scale, modern concert productions. The City spends over $300,000 to deliver the Valentine's Concert every year with only 8,000 of the City's 161,000 residents being able to attend on the night due to the venue capacity. The City continues to heavily subsidise the event. Ticket prices are set at $25.00 for residents, $20.00 for residents with a valid concession card, $10.00 for children and $35.00 for non-residents. A recent run of the 2019 feature act (All You Need is Love) at venues in Sydney and Melbourne sold from $89.00 per ticket.

Charging a fee will assist in ensuring the concert can continue to grow as a signature West Australian event, hosted in Joondalup primarily for its local community.

Let's Sort Waste

It's the right thing to do to improve recycling.

From late January 2019 the City will implement the new three bin system to align with the State Government's, Waste Authority target to reduce waste going to landfill. The City will:

- Deliver a 140L red lid bin for general waste; and
- Replace the old general waste bin lid with a new lime green lid. This bin will be used for green waste.

If you find the 240L yellow lid bin for recycling at your property is always full or overflowing each fortnight, you can request a free upgrade to a 360L recycling bin.

To request a recycling bin upgrade or for more information on the three bin system visit joondalup.wa.gov.au or call 9400 4255.

Mayor Hon. Albert Jacob JP gives Rita Cooper (wife of the late Brian Cooper) a helping hand as work on the peace precinct commences.

Kingsley Peace Precinct

The City is now home to a peace and reflection precinct.

Located at Lot 971, 52 Creaney Drive, Kingsley, the peace precinct was the brainchild of Kingsley resident, the late Brian Cooper, and offers a place of quiet reflection and peaceful contemplation for all.

It comprises of four plinths with commemorative plaques.

The plaques are dedicated to:

- All volunteers who have given selfless service to the betterment of their fellow Australians;
- All service personnel and service animals in recognition of the sacrifices they made for their country and to those who supported them through war and conflict;
- Those civilians who lost their lives or were injured in natural and man-made disasters on land, sea or in the air; and
- The remembrance of family, friends and pets, past and present.

Three benches were also incorporated into the precinct.

New Local Planning Scheme No 3

The City's new Local Planning Scheme, LPS3, became operational in late October.

LPS3, which supersedes District Planning Scheme No. 2 (DPS2), classifies land into zones and reserves and outlines how land within those zones may be used and developed. It also specifies the residential density code that applies to residential property, which prescribes how many dwellings can be developed.

One of the main differences between DPS2 and LPS3 is that the general development requirements are located in local planning policies rather than within the scheme. These policies have already been prepared, advertised for public comment, and adopted by Council. Policies for all zones within the scheme have been developed, along with some specific policies such as short-term accommodation and consulting rooms. LPS3 and the new local planning policies became operational at the same time.

Kaleidoscope shines brighter than ever

The 2018 Kaleidoscope Festival saw 117,000 people visit the Joondalup City Centre over four nights from Thursday 1 November – Friday 4 November.

Creative Director Drew Anthony was back for a second consecutive year and curated the work of 89 dynamic artists from WA, interstate and overseas to showcase their light installations, illuminations, projections, art and live performances over an unforgettable four nights.

This year's festival footprint extended from the Joondalup Library and Administration Building to Central Park, Central Walk and Lakeside Joondalup Shopping City, providing a more comfortable event space for the big crowds.

For anyone who wasn't lucky enough to attend this year, here's a selection of images that capture all the colour and excitement of what has become one of the northern corridor's biggest event.

Indicative artwork of how the marina could look.

Refined Concept Plan for Ocean Reef Marina

The opportunity to view the latest plans for the Ocean Reef Marina project attracted a large crowd to a recent Open Day at Ocean Reef Sea Sports Club.

This world-class project has unprecedented community support and will be a much sought-after tourist, business and residential location for the residents of Joondalup, the northern corridor of Perth and Western Australia as a whole.

The marina is being delivered by LandCorp on behalf of the State Government, in collaboration with the City of Joondalup.

The Metropolitan Region Scheme Amendment and Public Environmental Review processes are currently underway, and construction is expected to begin in late 2020.

Upgrades to Marmion Avenue/ Moore Drive, Currambine

The City recently received a grant through the State Government's Blackspot funding program to make improvements to the intersection at Marmion Avenue and Moore Drive, Currambine.

Work included the installation of a central island in the median turning pocket and minor widening of the central islands to allow for safer vehicular movements.

The project also included new pedestrian footpath links and tactile paving indicators to improve pedestrian safety.

All systems go for Beach Enclosure

Following storm damage in June-July, the Sorrento Beach Enclosure has now been fully repaired in time for the busy summer period.
