VINCIULLO, Phillip

My family and I have lived in the City of Joondalup for nearly 30 years. My retired parents still live here, and I now live in Kallaroo with my wife, son and our staffy, Mila. Having three generations of my family living here gives me a deep understanding of what matters most to our community.

My degree in communications, and career in radio broadcasting, have given me skills that I will use to listen to residents explain their needs, and to effectively communicate those needs to council. As a college lecturer I'm also devoted to finding innovative solutions, and encouraging others to participate in making our community better.

I believe in financially responsible, transparent and accountable local government. I'm passionate about improving our suburbs by protecting local parks and beaches, upgrading community infrastructure and amenities, and building a safe, inclusive, and active community for everyone – young, old, and four-legged.
