Kaya Wandjoo

Welcome to an exciting Winter program that has exploded into a bumper edition. Highlighted throughout will be references to the Joondalup25 celebrations that commence on Saturday 1 July with an Anniversary Showcase.

With the success of hosting the Lester Prize artworks earlier in the year, Joondalup Library will continue to be the venue for more fabulous exhibitions that showcase the City's artwork collections as well as the original drawings from Margaret Wild's picture book, The Midnight Gang, illustrated by Ann James.

Thanks again to everyone who supports our events and programs, and if you are reading this for the first time, welcome aboard, stay warm and enjoy all that your local library has to offer.

What good is the warmth of summer, without the cold of winter to give it sweetness.

In this fun and inspiring session, children will create their very own mini-comic masterpiece to take home.

Cost $4.00. Book and pay online.

Books and Book Clubs

Joondalup Libraries have a long tradition of hosting book clubs, with the first one formed at Duncraig Library in 2004. As there is a waitlist, these clubs are rarely advertised. Here are a few more options if book club and reading is on your 2023 wish list!

- Start your own club – book club doesn't have to be a big group. Get one or two like-minded people together over a coffee.
- Start with what you are reading at the time and branch out from there to find your perfect fit.
- Most times, everyone reads the same book however you could start a book club where you discuss what you are reading at the moment, or have a monthly theme.
- Join a social media book group. There are lots of different groups online that give you the opportunity to be a participant at your own pace.

For more information call 9400 4761.

New Libby Book Club – The Online Choice

FOR OUR ELDERS

2-9 JULY 2023

NAIDOC Week will be held nationally from Sunday 2 July – Sunday 9 July 2023. The theme for 2023 is For Our Elders.

NAIDOC Week celebrations are held across Australia in the first week of July each year, to celebrate and recognise the history, culture and achievements of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples.

NAIDOC Week is an opportunity for all Australians to learn about First Nations cultures and histories and participate in celebrations of the oldest, continuous living cultures on earth. In support of NAIDOC week, the City will run a month long program of events throughout July.

Subscribe to a City newsletter or visit the City's website at joondalup.wa.gov.au for event details.

City of Joondalup Celebrates Silver – 25 Years of the Art Collection

An exciting series of exhibitions throughout the year will showcase and commemorate the City's history and art collection, one of the state's most significant collections of contemporary West Australian art.

First off is the NAIDOC exhibition, at Joondalup Library, Monday 26 June – Saturday 29 July. Curated by Zali Morgan, this exhibition celebrates artworks by First Nations artists from the City's art collection.

Join Zali for a Discovery Session on Tuesday 4 July at 6.00pm as she delves into the artworks and themes explored in the exhibition.

Cost $5.00 and bookings via Ticketbooth.

Mooro Country

According to archaeological evidence, Noongar people have lived in the area around Yellagonga Regional Park for at least 40,000 years prior to European colonisation. This area is called Mooro and the Regional park is named after an important Noongar elder of the early colonial period – Yellagonga.

Joondalup is a Noongar word meaning ‘place of whiteness or glistening.’ To learn more about the legends, lifestyle, seasons and sacred sites, pick up a copy of Mooro Boodja: Indigenous Culture within Mooro Country at any of our libraries or view online at joondalup.wa.gov.au

What's in a name?

Nomenclature – the devising or choosing of names is a fascinating topic, however have you ever wondered what our suburb names mean and where they come from? Some are named after locations such as Edgewater and others after local identities.

Beldon: Beldon is named after A.W. Beldon, whose name appears in a list of early landowners and surveyors of Wanneroo.

Burns Beach: Burns Beach is named after shepherd Tommy Burns who was employed by the Clarkson brothers and grazed sheep in the area.

Connolly: Named in honour of John Connolly who held land in the area in 1838. Connolly was a private in the 63rd Regiment who arrived in the colony in 1829.

Craigie: Craigie is one of four suburbs created from an area known previously as Whitford. It is likely that developers Taylor Woodrow named it after either Craigie Lake, as Lake Joondalup was known by European Settlers, or Craigie Farm, which the Spiers family had established on the south-eastern shore of Lake Joondalup in the early 1900s.

Currambine: Currambine is an Aboriginal name from New South Wales that means heaps of rocks.

Duncraig: This suburb name was approved in 1969. The name was first used in the area as a promotional name, and it is of Scottish origin.

Edgewater: Edgewater derives its name from its location on the western shores of Lake Joondalup.

Greenwood: Greenwood may have been named after the Greenwood Archery Club which was established during the 1940s to entertain the local youth in the area. Another source states that Greenwood derived its name from the promotional estate name Greenwood Forest used by the Gold Land Development Corporation who began development of the area in 1969.

Heathridge: The name Heathridge was chosen because of the heath-type vegetation growing on the sand ridges in the area.

Hillarys: Hillarys is named after Bertram John Hillary, a Gallipoli war veteran who set up the first beach shack on a lonely stretch of beach in 1930.

Iluka: Iluka is an Aboriginal word from an eastern states dialect and is said to mean near the sea.

Joondalup: Joondalup is an Aboriginal word first recorded in 1837, and possibly means place of glistening.

Kallaroo: Kallaroo is an Aboriginal word meaning road to the water.

Kingsley: Named after the village of Kingsley which is near Winchester in Hampshire, England. The name was chosen for the historical association with the first owner of land in the area, William Kernot Shenton.

Kinross: Kinross is a subdivision of Burns Beach and is named after Kinross, Scotland. It recognises the Scottish ancestry of Tommie Burns (Burns Beach) a shepherd who ran sheep in the area.

Marmion: Marmion is named after Patrick Marmion of the schooner Pelsart, who operated a whaling station in the area in 1849.

Mullaloo: Mullaloo was originally called Moolaloo until the spelling was changed to Mullaloo. One record of the Aboriginal name records it as meaning place of the rat kangaroo.

Padbury: Padbury is named after Walter Padbury who was a pastoralist, merchant, philanthropist, and Western Australia's first millionaire. Mr Padbury was the first landholder in the area.

Sorrento: It's assumed that the name 'Sorrento' was taken from the Italian seaside town of Sorrento which is located south of Naples opposite the Isle of Capri.

Warwick: Warwick derives its name from the main road in the area. It's thought to be named after an early settler by the name of Jack Warrick. The spelling was changed to Warwick to be in keeping with English and Scottish names that are a feature of the suburb.

Woodvale: Woodvale derives its name from the area being rolling undulating country with many stands of good timber.
